From there, we'll make our way to the renowned Bouddhanath stupa in Kathmandu. Boudhanath is a UNESCO World Heritage Site that is extremely spiritually and culturally significant to Tibetan Buddhists. It's a haven of peace and serenity, drawing pilgrims and visitors alike who want to soak up the ambiance and see ancient ceremonies and activities. Pashupatinath Temple will be our next stop. It is a prominent Hindu pilgrimage place located on the banks of the Bagmati River. There are about 500 temples here, including the renowned Shiva temple (which is solely open to Hindus).

Swyambhu (also known as Monkey Temple) is an old and revered Buddhist temple in Kathmandu, Nepal. It is one of the city's most recognizable landmarks and has significant religious and cultural significance. Finally, we will visit Kathmandu Durbar Square, which features breathtaking buildings, temples, and courtyards that provide views of Nepal's old architecture and regal past. Our employees will then transport you to your accommodation.

We'll begin the trip early in the morning and travel to the airport and take a helicopter from there to Lukla. Throughout this voyage, we will obtain a bird's eye perspective of the capital as well as some scattered communities from various locations. We will also view other Himalayan hills and magnificent woods. After reaching Lukla, we will have a 15-minute break before flying to Kalapatthar. When we arrive at Kalapatthar, we will be surrounded by the stunning Himalayas. Encounter mountains such as Pumori, Changste, Everest, Nuptse, and Lhotse, as well as many more neighboring summits and Tibetan peaks. Take in as much of this moment as you can before our journey back. Finally, we will fly back to Lukla with breathtaking views of the Himalayas before continuing on to Kathmandu.
