ITINERARY IN DETAIL

Day 1: Kathmandu to Darkha Dundure (by jeep 7h)

Early in the morning, drive to Darkha Dundure on a Jeep for about 7 hours. Until halfway, the road is fine. But, as you cross the Dhading, the path turns rough and bumpy. Despite that, the unmatched scenery of the gorgeous Annapurna range, Manaslu range, Ganesh Himal and Langtang range are hallucinating enough to make you forget all the discomforts.

You will come across some of the classic local villages, adhering to their long-stayed cultures and traditions. Their houses appear red in color with a front yard (garden) and thatched roofs, a distinguishing characteristic of a traditional Nepali House on the Hills. These views follow you until you reach the Darkha Dundure, one of the classic villages of north-central Nepal. You will spend your night in the Homestay, the best place to examine the cultures and traditions of the village in depth.

Day 2: Trek to Borang (Rubivali-4- 5h)

After having breakfast, you will leave the Darkha Dundure through a trail fenced by the paddy terraces on one side. Then, a beautiful suspension bridge will guide you to the village of Jharlang. Have your lunch there. Soon, another suspension bridge, spanning across the Lishne Khola, leads you through a vivid forest, animated by the chirping sounds of the birds and diverse wild plants and insects. When you reach Borang, from where you will trek to start to the ruby valley, you will see a large settlement region of Tamangs, one of the 125 ethnic tribes of Nepal with their distinct identity. They have their language, culture, and unfathomable faith in god. Exploring Borang is the best way to create some real-life experiences with the Locals

Day 3: Trek to Sertung (4h)

After having breakfast, leave the Barang village towards the Sertung. About an hour later, you will reach the amazing Bandare Danda (Monkey Hill), offering better views of the landscapes below. Watching the playful and energetic monkeys leaping from one rock to the other is very rare in the mountains. Continue the path until you arrive at the Deul Danda and Mane Danda through Gobre village. The peaks of Ganesh Himal appear very much lively from this hill. Then, a 20-minute descent will take you to the Chalise Gaon (a traditional hamlet of Ghale, Gurung, and Kami). Explore the temples and monasteries nearby. You may take a side trip to Tatopani (Hot spring) from there.

Through the Tin Kanya Devi Temple at Chalise Gaon, climb uphill to Sertung village. The top of the village renders excellent views of the Ganesh Himal and other snowy ranges. Stay at homestay at Sertung.

Day 4: Trek to Tipling (4h)

Following a quick breakfast, you will leave the Tipling village through a long suspension bridge. An hour of walking will bring you to another amazing village of Kami Gaon. From here, the views of the lower Sertung village and Chalise Gaon appear fabulous.

The landscapes and the rocky cliffs form an impeccable impression on the eyes of the spectator from the Kami Gaon. About 20 minutes later, you will arrive at the Tipling Village, a cultural hamlet.

Instead of staying here, you may take a brief ascent to Lapdung to make the next day's trek a little bit easier. Explore the daily lifestyle and rituals of Tamang at first hand at Lapdung.

Day 5: Trek to poktang (5h)

From Tipling or Lapdung, head straight up to the Poktang along the pleasant trail surrounded by the open mountain views. The Ganesh Himal is the most distinguished peak here as compared to the rest of the mountains. As you reach Poktang, walk around the village to get a deep insight into the cultures and customs of Hilly Nepal. You will understand the daily lifestyle of the locals.

Day 6: Trek to Pansang 3850f (7h)

A long way to Pansang is, indeed, one of the most rewarding days of the overall trekking in the Ruby Valley. On the way, you will come across some of the fabulous places that you have never thought existed before. One of the major highlights of this trek is the view of the Ganesh Himal. From Pansang, this peak appears simply sensational. Many of the trekkers turn emotional as they rise to Pansang. For the day, there is not much to do except stay in the hotel.

Day 7: Rest and Hiking

Today, you will unveil some of the deepest secrets of the Pangsang High Pass. While the views are good from Pangsang, it is also a cultural center. The people of this region are humble and hospitable enough to invite you for dinner at a first meeting.

You will explore several viewpoints to see the Himalayas from different angles. The lower Ruby Valley appears fabulous here. From Pangsang you may visit Singla which is known as a holy place for the Bon religion. It may take several hours to reach there but it's worth to go.

Day 8: Trek to Gathlang (4-5h)

Through the pleasant jungles of the pine and rhododendrons, you will go across the incredible village of Khurpu Bhanjyang. Within a while, a vast pasture shows up at Yuri Kharka, where Kharka means pasture. The view of the lower valley is simply unmatched at this point.

Then, walk across the Parvati Kunda, a sacred lake known by the Hindus and Buddhists. A holy bath in this sanctuary is believed to bring good fortune and wash off all your sins. Within a while, you will make an appearance at the Gathlang. You will feel the classic and historical aura of ancient people in this Tamang village.

Day 9: Trek to Syabrubesi

Have a quick breakfast, and proceed to the Chawatar along a pleasant trail fenced by the green farm fields. Within a while, you will show up at the Bahundanda.

Through a dirt track, you will walk until you reach the popular village of Syabrubensi. Explore the nearby monasteries, Chortens, and Mani walls to get a deep insight into Buddhism. You may take a bath with a natural hot spring nearby.

Day 10: By local bus or jeep Kathmandu

Every morning, the bus to Kathmandu leaves from Syabrubensi. After Trishuli, there are two route options- via Galchi (7 hours) or Kakani (9 hours). In terms of views, Kakani is far better than the Galchi, especially the view of the splendid Ganesh Himal. Once you reach Kathmandu, explore the cultural heritage sites in Kathmandu.
