

Karnali River Rafting - 10 Days

A Karnali River rafting excursion in Nepal offers an unforgettable journey through the remote and undisturbed environment of western Nepal. Known for its hard rapids ranging from class III to V, the Karnali River offers a thrilling experience appropriate for both seasoned rafters and daring newcomers.

The best rafting seasons, post-monsoon and pre-monsoon, provide perfect river levels and consistent weather conditions. The expedition usually lasts 8 to 10 days, allowing participants to not only sail over adrenaline-pumping rapids like 'God's House' and 'Juicer', but also immerse themselves in the various flora and wildlife along the river banks. Camping in peaceful settings allows you to relax, exchange tales, and admire the natural beauty. Cultural contacts with local populations, as well as insights into their traditional lifestyle, provide a distinct cultural component to the trip. With skilled guides assuring safety and navigating through deep gorges and lush jungles, Karnali River rafting stands out as an amazing combination of exhilarating adventure and immersive wilderness experience in the heart of Nepal.
