ITINERARY IN DETAIL

Day 1: Drive to Damauli from Kathmandu.

We will start our journey early in the morning and head to the Pokhara bus station in Kadhara. This will take around 7-8 hours, followed by a trip to Damauli which will take 1 hour. When we get to Damauli, the rafting personnel will meet us and provide us with the necessary rafting equipment, as well as guide us through some instructions and safety procedures. Then you'll be ready to travel down the riverside roads. This journey takes you through lush woodlands, accompanied by twittering birds. The trip will conclude when you reach Sarang Ghat, where we will spend the night.

Day 2: Rafting to Gaighat then drive back to Kathmandu.

After breakfast, we will head to the location and begin our rafting excursion following a brief guide lesson. As you begin your adventure, you will travel down the river's flow and be treated to a visual feast of lush woods, terraced farms, and traditional Nepalese villages. The region's vast biodiversity may manifest itself in the form of many bird species and other wildlife on the riverbanks. You will continue rafting till you reach Gaighat, where we will stop and spend our time resting before returning to Kathmandu.
