

Tamur River Rafting - 9 Days

The Tamur River, located in eastern Nepal, is a mesmerizing location for people looking for an extreme rafting adventure. The river, known for its secluded and pristine setting, transports rafters through untouched places surrounded by lush woods and breathtaking Himalayan views. The Tamur River is known for its severe rapids, which range from Class III to Class IV+, making it an adrenaline-pumping experience for both intermediate and advanced rafters. Cultural exchanges with ethnic villages along the way enrich the experience, providing insights into the local inhabitants' distinctive customs and lifestyles. Tamur River rafting offers an exciting experience over difficult rapids and cultural and ecological exploration, forging solidarity among participants as they cross the heart of the Himalayas.
